

A Perfect Hearing Solution For You

Communication is priceless. It is at the root of all relationships and unfortunately hearing loss can hinder this much needed ability for one in ten of us. Loved ones become mumbler and punch lines are missed. Hearing loss, even when slight, has a great impact on one's quality of life and so selecting the right hearing healthcare provider is crucial.

Rosanne McNamee, Doctor of Audiology, is the Registered Audiologist and owner of Hearing Solutions Clinic. Rosanne opened her practice in 2001 to offer the kind of hearing healthcare she felt was lacking in Ottawa. At Hearing Solutions Clinic you won't hear an office jingle, find crowded waiting rooms, be lured by marketing schemes or feel the pressure of sales tactics. "Call me old fashioned, but I want to practice in a clinic where the goal is hearing healthcare, not hearing aid sales." Rosanne explains, "I wanted a clinic large enough to offer amazing service, yet small enough to develop professional relationships with my patients." With a focus on patient care, Rosanne strives to offer every patient nothing but the best. "I believe in treating others how I would want to be treated," says Rosanne, "so I treat my patients like family and give each patient 100 percent of myself as we work together, doing whatever it takes, to reach their hearing goals. I really listen to what they tell me and I believe that is the key to my success in meeting their hearing needs."

In keeping with her philosophy on hearing healthcare, Rosanne also prides herself on personalized care. Unlike larger facilities where patients are shuffled between different employees every visit, patients at Hearing Solutions Clinic have the luxury of always dealing with the same Audiologist, eliminating the need to repeatedly re-establish their issues and concerns.

Finally, Rosanne also feels strongly that to provide real value, an unlimited range of products must be offered. "Everyone has distinct hearing needs which can best be met when all the options, across all manufacturers, can be considered because manufacturer products vary greatly — from rechargeable hearing aids to open ear products to remote options and Bluetooth capabilities. It would not be in the patient's interest to carry just a few favored Manufacturers." By remaining independent, private, as well as locally owned and operated, Hearing Solutions Clinic has no manufacturer limitations. All hearing aid makes and models are available for sales and service. Consequently, you can be sure you will find a hearing aid that is right for you, and at a very competitive price, because Hearing Solutions Clinic doesn't have the enormous overhead of larger clinics.

Despite Hearing Solutions Clinic's ongoing growth, Rosanne ensures the maintenance of this personalized care and unique hearing healthcare philosophy by being extremely particular in who she brings on board. "It is crucial for me that all employees share my traditional views on hearing healthcare" explains Rosanne, "and our current team is amazing if I do say so myself!". The Hearing Solutions Clinic team consists of two Doctors of Audiology, Rosanne as well as Maria Perez. Both are very diligent at keeping Hearing Solutions Clinic up to date in technology and practice. Consequently, all patients are receiving the service of professionals whom are top in their field and whose principle interest is patient care. In addition, Hearing Solutions Clinic has a knowledgeable receptionist, Dorothy Johnson, whom always has the patient's interest at heart, is very accommodating and most pleasant. Together, the members of this team enable Hearing Solutions Clinic to be more efficient than ever without straying from the core values, beliefs and principles that brought Hearing Solutions Clinic to be.
