

MAY IS HEARING AWARENESS MONTH

...A PERFECT TIME TO FIND YOUR SOLUTION TO HEARING LOSS

Communication is priceless. It is at the root of all relationships and unfortunately hearing loss can hinder this much needed ability. Loved ones become mumblebers and punch lines are missed. Hearing loss, even when slight, has a great impact on one's quality of life and so selecting the right hearing healthcare provider is crucial. Rosanne McNamee, Doctor of Audiology, is the Registered Audiologist and owner of Hearing Solutions Clinic. She is in many ways, the #1 reason to choose Hearing Solutions Clinic as YOUR hearing healthcare provider. Rosanne opened her practice in 2001 to offer the kind of hearing healthcare she felt was lacking in Ottawa. At Hearing Solutions Clinic you won't hear an office jingle, find crowded waiting rooms, be lured by marketing schemes or feel the pressure of sales tactics. "Call me old fashioned, but I wanted to practice in a clinic small enough to develop professional relationships with my patients. The goal of my practice is hearing healthcare, not hearing aid sales." Rosanne explains. With a focus on patient care, Rosanne strives to offer every patient nothing but the best. "I believe in treating others how I would want to be treated," says Rosanne, "so I treat my patients like family and give each patient 100 percent of myself as we work together, doing whatever it takes, to reach their hearing goals. I really listen to what they tell me and I believe that is the key to my success in meeting their hearing needs." In keeping with her philosophy on hearing healthcare, Rosanne also prides herself on personalized care. Patients at Hearing Solutions Clinic have the luxury of always dealing with the same Audiologist, Rosanne, the owner, unlike many other facilities where patients are shuffled to a different employee every visit. Consequently, patients are guaranteed a vested interest in their satisfaction throughout each and every visit. Finally, Rosanne also feels strongly that to provide real value, an unlimited range of products must be offered. "Everyone has distinct hearing needs which can best be met when all the options, across all manufacturers, can be considered because manufacturer products vary greatly -- from rechargeable hearing aids to open ear products to remote options and Bluetooth compatibility." By remaining independent, private, as well as locally owned and operated, Hearing Solutions Clinic has no manufacturer limitations. All hearing aid makes and models are available for sales and service. Consequently, you can be sure you will find a hearing aid that is right for you, and at a very competitive price, because Hearing Solutions Clinic doesn't have the enormous overhead of larger clinics. Finally, at Hearing Solutions Clinic, you receive hearing healthcare from a fluently bilingual professional with impressive credentials. Rosanne is a Registered Audiologist, with a Doctorate in Audiology. She is also a part-time Professor at the University of Ottawa and is a Council Member of the College of Audiology and Speech-Language Pathology of Ontario. As a result, Hearing Solutions Clinic is always up to date in technology and practice.
