

Find Your Solution to Hearing Loss

COMMUNICATION IS PRICELESS.

Unfortunately, hearing loss can hinder this much-needed ability. Loved ones become mumblers and punch lines are missed. Although addressing this issue might seem intimidating, Rosanne Lavallée of Hearing Solutions Clinic in Nepean wants to take the worry out of hearing healthcare and reintroduce the joy of hearing. "I want the journey to better hearing to be a pleasant one and so I treat my patients like family, not only because I sincerely enjoy working with them but because it is the best way for us to openly discuss their real hearing needs. Today's hearing aids are incredibly flexible and so many seemingly impossible problems can be addressed."

The Hearing Solutions Clinic is a small business. Consequently, when patients come into the clinic they are always going to be dealing with Rosanne personally. "I pride myself on personalized hearing healthcare" says Rosanne. "In the bigger places, patients are often shuffled from one specialist to another constantly having to re-establish their hearing needs and issues. Here, they are always going to be working with me, and I will always give them my 100%."

Another advantage to dealing with this private practice is flexibility. Rosanne is very flexible with her time. "Upon special request, I will extend the office hours, book weekend consultations and even do home visits" she explains. There is also flexibility in the hearing aid chosen. Rosanne sells and services all makes and models of hearing aids. She is not limited to any manufacturers. She can therefore find the device that is ideal for you.

Moreover, the Hearing Solutions Clinic has very competitive pricing. Having fewer overhead costs, the end cost to the patient is lower than that of larger facilities. With great prices and an amazing personalized professional service, Hearing Solutions Clinic offers the best value in Ottawa.
